

Teaching Portfolio

Elizabeth Mendenhall mendenhall@uri.edu

Teaching Experience:

2018: Politics of the Ocean, Spring
2017: International Ocean Law (graduate), Fall
2017: History of American Environmentalism, Winter Intersession
2016: Politics of the Ocean, Fall
2016: History of American Environmentalism, Winter Intersession
2015: TA, Contemporary International Politics, Fall
2015: TA (head), Global Security Politics, Fall
2013: TA, International Politics, Fall
2013: TA, Global Security Politics, Spring

Tutoring

2013-2016: Writing Tutor (shift director), Johns Hopkins Writing Center
2009-2011: Political Science Tutor, Kansas State Student Services for Intercollegiate Athletics

Invited Lectures:

2015: "The Discursive Construction of the New Arctic," University of California-Irvine
Symposium on Arctic Governance, January
2015: "The Nuclear Political Question," for Global Security Politics, Spring
2014: "Politics of the Ocean," for Water Politics, Fall
2014: "Jared Diamond's Guns, Germs, and Steel," for Planetary Geopolitics, Spring
2013: "Proliferation, Terrorism, and Arms Control," for International Politics, Fall
2013: "Asteroid Politics," for Global Security Politics, Spring

Awards and Honors:

2016: Winner, Johns Hopkins Excellence in Teaching Award (university-wide)
2016: Dean's Teaching Fellowship, Johns Hopkins University

Professional Development:

2016: Participant at Pedagogy Workshop, ISA-NE, November
2016: Participant at Johns Hopkins Teaching Institute summer workshop, May 2016: Participant at Simulations and Games Career Course, ISA, March 2016: Panelist, "The Role of Simulations in Peace Education," ISA, Atlanta
2015: Participant, World Politics Simulation: WWII, ISA, New Orleans
2014: Participant, World Politics Simulation: Israel/Palestine, ISA, Toronto

By Request:

Teaching philosophy
Sample syllabus
World Politics Simulations